To whom it may concern:

Arnold Villeneuve was originally hired as a Business Analyst/trainer to help out with the final training deliverables of a SharePoint installation. The project had run into numerous difficulties due to its complexity involving many integrated systems and high turn-over of contractors / full-time workers with the subsequent loss of corporate knowledge. His extensive background in SharePoint projects, networking, troubleshooting SP implementation errors and SharePoint farm builds, added to his teaching skills and overall level of commitment proved to be a crucial addition to our team and the turning point ending in the eventual roll-out of the SharePoint portion of the project.

His approach to problems encountered, which were never too big or small, and their eventual solutions had a galvanizing effect on our staff. His documentation of these solutions helped pave the way to a more concise documentation of our entire SharePoint implementation.

By his reproduction of our 2007 SharePoint implementation and the build of a new 2010 system, he was able to devise a customized migration strategy and thus deliver numerous detailed reports regarding the proposed upgrade from SharePoint 2007 to SharePoint 2010. These reports included detailed recommendations regarding our farm build, integrated systems, customized solutions, and site builds which will be our guide through the future migration.

We can highly recommend Arnold Villeneuve as a solid and reliable consultant, and an expert in his field.

Yours Sincerely,
